FEATURED STORY

What's new with Blackboard Collaborate? In keeping with our commitment to support education-focused collaboration, regardless of LMS, we're proud of the many new and renewing customers for our Moodle integration. These include Alliant International University, Harris County DOE, Mofet Institute, The Princeton Review, San Mateo County Community College District, and University of California Riverside Extension. Learn more about the newest version of our Elluminate Bridge for Moodle.

Elluminate and the Accessibility Imperative. Accessibility isn't just nice to have. It's an imperative. Learn how our No User Left Behind™ philosophy had guided Elluminate to build in accessibility from the ground up. The result: a 21st century learning and collaboration environment that meets individual needs, including those with disabilities. Download white paper now. There's even a screen-reader-friendly version.

John Jay College of Criminal Justice Gets Synchronous with Elluminate. "Our goal was to raise the bar in online education," says Professor Adam Scott Wandt. "Elluminate is part of what we are doing to do a better job of teaching our students. They are all thrilled with the potential, and I think that online education can only get better from here on out." Learn more.

Center of Excellence Spotlight: London Knowledge Lab. The use of Elluminate Live! at the London Knowledge Lab and Institute of Education at the University of London focuses on connecting remote learners, recording lectures, webcasting events, and exploring engaging ways of using the tool. "Elluminate can adapt to a multitude of settings and yet retain a high usability," says Elluminate Hero Tim Neumann. Learn more.

Elluminate Plan! Supports Accessibility Imperative. Did you know that PowerPoint slide content imported into Plan! is accessible from the Elluminate Live! Activity Window, which consolidates all in-session activity, including side content? Users who are blind or have low vision can access Activity Window content using a screen reader like JAWS.

And you can try Plan! free for 30 days! Learn more.
