

Dear User,

We are pleased to offer you our "Elluminate Techline." The aim of this monthly bulletin is to provide you and all users of Elluminate Live! in your organization with technical information, best practices, and solutions related to our products.

Best regards,

Amanda Reed
Senior Manager, Education and Training

▼ Registering and Attending An Elluminate Live! Online Training Class

Want to learn more about Elluminate products? Whether you are a first time or regular user, Elluminate's Education and Training Team provides free online live training sessions every day, along with recorded training modules, quick reference guides, and user guides. To register for a class or to view a library of training resources, visit <http://www.elluminate.com/training>.

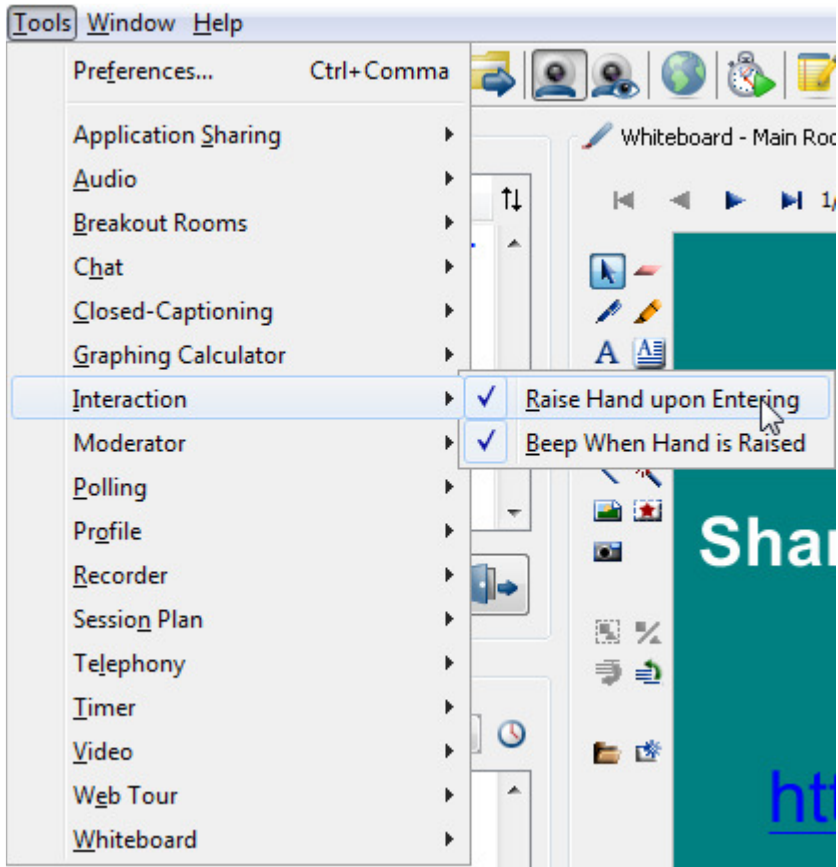

To attend a live training session, first time users must register. You will need your new username and password to attend the class and to register for future classes. For more information, click here to view the registering and attending process web page.

▼ Automatic Hand Raising Upon Entering a Session

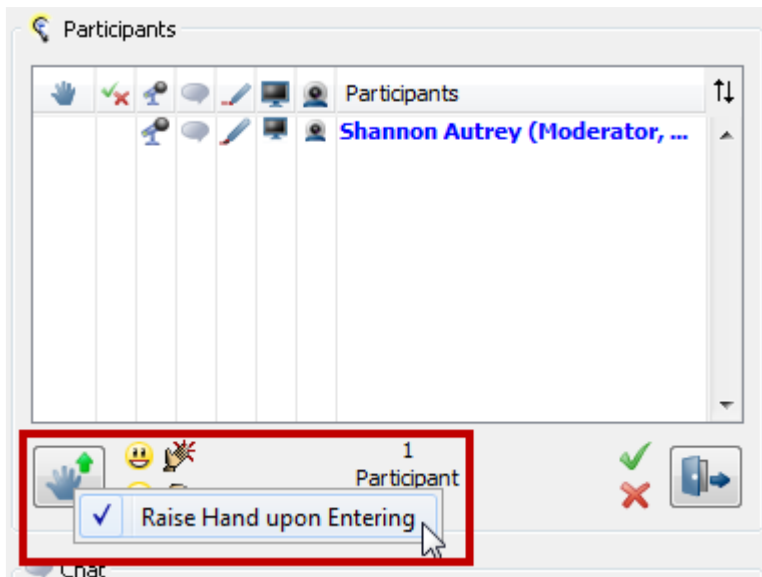

As the moderator, you may wish to be notified when attendees enter the session. The Auto Raise Hand feature is the virtual equivalent of someone manually raising a hand in a classroom or meeting. When a new participant joins the session, the hand raising icon is triggered automatically, sending an audible and visual indicator.

While multitasking, it is best to have your external speaker on so that you hear the audible tone. However, you may want to disable this function if your session has begun, and you do not want to be distracted by late comers.

To turn the feature on, select Tools > Interaction and click on Raise Hand upon Entering (by default check mark will appear indicating the feature is enabled). To turn the feature off, simply deselect the Raise Hand upon Entering option.

Alternatively, you can right click on the Raise Hand icon to turn this feature on and off.
